The Nicklaus Course was designed by Jack Nicklaus and his son Steve, it is a rewarding challenge, with several 'double option' holes such as 7th and 15th which offer a choice of fairways from which to approach the green. The Nicklaus course offers a scenic yet strategic test of golf where position more than length is crucial. As Jack said it certainly is "a thinking man's golf course". The half way house on the Nicklaus is passed twice so you will never be short of a snack or drink. A Longest Drive competition is recommended on the 4th, with the 16th ideal for Nearest the Pin.

The Cheshire Course is reminiscent of the finest British heathland courses; set to the rear of the Carden Park Estate it offers stunning panoramic views across the Cheshire countryside to the mountains of Wales. A wealth of natural hazards make this a highly technical course and will test your skills throughout. Building to a dramatic and scenic finish, with tough 16th and 17th holes followed by the 18th tee atop sandstone cliffs overlooking the resort and Welsh hills. It certainly ensures a round of golf to remember. A Longest Drive competition is ideal on the 9th hole, with the 15th proving popular for Nearest the Pin, which keeps even the flagging players competitive spirits up right until your return to the Clubhouse.
